Center for the Education of Women+
Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Strategic Plan | FY 2024

Strategic Plan Overview

Selected text from President’s Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Charge:
From being one of the first universities to admit women in 1870 to our historic defense of race conscious admission policies at the U.S. Supreme Court in 2003, the University of Michigan has had a fierce and longstanding commitment to diversity, equity and inclusion. This commitment rests upon our recognition of the history in the United States of racial, ethnic, and gender discrimination as well as our understanding that our progress as an institution of higher learning will be enhanced with a vibrant community of people from many backgrounds.

Goals [Diversity Equity & Inclusion]:

Diversity – We commit to increasing diversity, which is expressed in myriad forms, including race and ethnicity, gender and gender identity, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, language, culture, national origin, religious commitments, age, (dis)ability status, and political perspective.

Equity – We commit to working actively to challenge and respond to bias, harassment, and discrimination. We are committed to a policy of equal opportunity for all persons and do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, marital status, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, disability, religion, height, weight, or veteran status.

Inclusion – We commit to pursuing deliberate efforts to ensure that our campus is a place where differences are welcomed, different perspectives are respectfully heard and where every individual feels a sense of belonging and inclusion. We know that by building a critical mass of diverse groups on campus and creating a vibrant climate of inclusiveness, we can more effectively leverage the resources of diversity to advance our collective capabilities.

Rationale [Mission, Vision, Values of CEW+]:

Established in 1964, CEW+ was a pioneering university women’s center. Designed to serve the needs of women students as well as women returning to school or work, CEW+ (then known as the Center for the Continuing Education of Women) was founded with a three-part mission of service, advocacy, and research. CEW+ continues its work today, serving University students, staff and faculty, community members, and all genders, facing education, employment, or other life issues.

Mission: CEW+ empowers women+ and underserved individuals, among others, in the University of Michigan and surrounding communities by serving as an advocate and providing resources to help individuals reach their academic, financial, and professional potential.

Vision and Values: CEW+ assists individuals in achieving their goals and reaching their potential through counseling, financial services, and programming. Our work utilizes a holistic framework that acknowledges the whole lives of individuals and recognizes that the goals and needs of individuals are unique and change over time. We create systemic change by lifting up the voices of those who may go unheard and pride ourselves on being a space where individuals feel they belong without having to explain themselves.

Key Strategies & Constituencies*:

CEW+ has constituents in every area of the University of Michigan community. Generally speaking, the primary constituencies that this plan addresses are students (graduate and undergraduate) and staff of the Center. CEW+ does also serve staff and faculty of the university at large, and members of the greater U-M community. In general, where objectives are noted as pertaining to “All,” we mean students, staff and faculty, and the greater community. Our goals touch on every aspect of our service to the community, and were formulated by the DEI team, management, and all members of the staff of CEW+. They are intended to further university-wide goals for DEI, and have been aggregated into the three distal objectives determined by the university. Each of these strategic objectives is accompanied by metrics that will be tracked over time, as well as descriptions of single- and, in some cases, multiple-year actions CEW+ will take to accomplish those objectives.

CEW+ will focus on the following six strategic objectives in the upcoming DEI 2.0 cycle.
1. Diversify our constituency and staff.
2. Improve and maintain a positive climate, including conflict resolution
3. Recognize the strengths of CEW+ staff and support professional development and growth.
4. Offer unique programming to address the needs of, among others, underserved students (i.e. financial empowerment, support groups).
5. Embed DEI-related objectives in the professional development and work of all staff.
6. DEI leads work in partnership with Chief Development Officer to report on names of DEI funds, goals, and potential impact of securing this funding.

*All strategic objectives and related actions will be pursued in accordance with the law and University policy.

Planning Process Used
Planning Lead(s):
Sandra Iaderosa, Associate Director
Sarah Prince, Continuous Improvement Specialist Intermediate

Planning Team:
Tiffany Marra, CEW+ Director, and planning leads, in conjunction with CEW+ Staff

Planning Process Summary:
Over the course of the last year, the CEW+ planning leads reviewed its own evaluation of the DEI 1.0 cycle, as well as evaluations conducted by Angela Ebreo, CEW+ Program Evaluation Specialist, for preparation of this report (see full list below). With the instruction offered by the Office of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion this plan was formulated after meetings with the CEW+ Director Tiffany Marra and several subsequent planning meetings with staff.

The planning meetings with staff were led by the CEW+ planning leads, and were spread over a series of three weekly hour-long staff meetings. In the first meeting, staff were divided into groups of three (one for each distal objective), where each considered questions found in the “DEI 2.0 Distal Objective Definitions” document from ODEI. The groups then reported on their findings to the entire staff to generate more ideas. The director, evaluation specialist, and Liz DeBetta (advocacy program manager) incorporated these ideas into a spreadsheet outlining initial goals formulated by DEI leads and director. The spreadsheet was then shared with staff for input.

Once the goals were finalized, the planning leads and director met with the evaluation specialist and advocacy program manager to use logic models to measure the efficacy of the center’s goals for the coming year (and beyond). A training session for staff on using the models will be led by DeBetta and Ebreo in the coming weeks.

Process for collecting program evaluation data:
Across CEW+, a core set of questions are used to evaluate virtual and in-person events, including items specific to the unit’s DEI objectives. Additional event specific items may be added to this core set as requested by the event lead. After each event, a member of the Core Support Services (CSS) team sends the survey to participants. For events over 50 people, a second email is sent out to remind non-respondents to reply to the survey.

Once each survey is closed in Qualtrics, the evaluation and assessment team downloads and/or generates a report and shares them with program managers. Larger events are evaluated in separate individual reports provided to CEW+ leadership and program managers. Survey results are used to guide the design of future events. A summary report of all smaller events is provided annually to staff.
Sources of data:

All program evaluations also collect demographic data. Key findings are noted in the next section.

Other sources of data produced by CEW+ staff and affiliated students:

- UM Children’s Center & CEW+ Student Parent Pilot Evaluation, by Angela Ebreo, Ph.D. - May 2022

The above reports are used by leadership, program management, and counseling team members to assess so that it can inform program planning.

Counseling participant data and demographics:
CEW+ counseling program offers Emergency Fund counseling to students, and career & education counseling to staff, faculty, students, and members of the community. The team consists of two full time licensed social workers and one to four MSW interns at any given time. Participants who are new to the Center, and those returning after more than two years, are asked to fill out an intake form that collects demographic information and participant appointment goals to assess the needs of the participant. After the appointment, all participants are sent a Satisfaction Survey. Data collected from this survey is used to inform counselors of the respondents’ overall experience with the Center including counselor performance. Participants are also given the option of providing a testimonial for marketing and development purposes. All responses to intake and post-appointment forms are completely anonymous.

Climate Survey:
Given the small size of the unit, the U-M wide climate survey does not provide delineated data for many variables. To better understand the internal climate, CEW+ conducted a climate survey in the summer of 2022 with the help of an external consultant. The climate review process consisted of voluntary staff interviews and an office wide confidential survey. The consultant used the data to generate a report that was shared with the entire staff in the Fall of 2022.

Data and Analysis: Key Findings

Counseling Demographics over time
Below are charts and summary information about each chart. The data presented will be reassessed each year to evaluate progress towards our DEI goals.

Over time we have served a greater percentage of students through our counseling services while reducing the percent of community members. Note that the changes in FY21 were a result of campus closure as a result of COVID and increase in student needs.
While our largest constituent group from FY18-FY22 by race was White/Anglo American (n=1543), the non-White categories totaled (n=1857) comprise a higher number. In this same time period, gender of constituents was 2970 female, 650 male, and 67 nonbinary individuals. Additionally, 15% of our constituents were non-US citizens.

From FY18 through FY22, the following nontraditional identities were represented among our counseling constituents:

FY22 Event Evaluations
As with last year’s evaluation of CEW+ events, a sizable proportion of attendees are persons who have attended other events in the past. Overall trends demonstrate that over 86% of event participants are female. Additionally, 52.4% are employed full time and 18.2% identify as Latinx.

Of those that reported race, 37.5% identified as White, 12.5% as Asian American, and 8.3% as Black. The charts below provide additional demographics regarding event participants.

Overall, on Likert scaled items, opinions of CEW+ events were positive across all items, with average ratings higher than the midpoint of the response scale. Respondents believed that the events were timely and led to a greater connection to U-M. Respondents were less in agreement with the items that related to the application of the information provided to the attendee’s life within and outside of the workplace. This may be a reflection of the content of the various events, as some events were not directly related to career development or worklife.

Student Caregiver and Parent Demographics and Needs
Since FY20, CEW+ has led a student parent advisory group that has provided consistent feedback about the need for affordable childcare and recognition of unlicensed childcare through the childcare subsidy. While unlicensed childcare was recognized during the pandemic, that recognition was later revoked. These remain the two most requested needs of student caregivers. In FY22, CEW+ conducted a needs assessment of student parents on the Ann Arbor campus. Below are the most requested items that are not currently offered at U-M:
Climate Survey
The following Likert scale summaries represent thematic sets of questions related to being seen, heard, valued, and feeling connected. Overall, across all measures, CEW+ was above the average for each value with connection and being seen as the two with the lowest averages.

The climate survey identified three main strengths of the organization:

- Mission focused: Fulfilling the mission to assist and help non-traditional students in meaningful ways through high impact core programs is a strong motivator among staff.
- Teamwork: CEW+ is highly collaborative and supportive of one another; staff pull together in times of crises and during large events to get things done.
- Workplace environment & structure: The office has flexibility, autonomy and a flexible leadership style that allows autonomy in how work gets done.

Building on our Strengths: Existing programs focused on diversity, equity and inclusion

- Education & Career Counseling
  CEW+ uses master’s level social workers who provide career, educational and emergency funding services to our constituents. Financial assistance is limited to students, however other services are open to staff, faculty, as well as community members. The sessions are free of charge and confidential. Appointments are both in person and virtual to give greater access to all.

- Unit partnerships and outreach activities
  A. CEW+ counselors have eleven formal partnerships with schools and student resource spaces across campus. Most notable are our ties with the Dean of Students, Rackham, LSA, Office of Financial Aid and the School of Social Work. These relationships allow students to receive the financial support they need quickly and without the need to “retell their stories” in the midst of a financial crisis.

B. CEW+ is intentional about including campus partners when developing new programming to ensure that the needs of students, staff, and faculty across campus will be addressed. In FY16, CEW+ established the Council for NonTraditional Students (COUNTS), a cross campus group focused on the needs of nontraditional students. In FY20, CEW+ launched campus-wide advisory groups focused on student caregivers.

- Scholarships/Fellowships for underserved students, as set forth below

CEW+ provides scholarships across campus to students who met one of three primary criteria:
- A minimum two-year (24 month) consecutive interruption in education anytime since high school (for undergraduate applicants); or a minimum five-year (60 month) consecutive interruption in education anytime since high school (for graduate applicants)
- Primary Caregiver
- Working to complete a STEM degree and actively engaged in a Sponsored Student Organization (SSO) that supports gender diversity in STEM.

CEW+ Fellowships support students whose research may not be recognized by other funding sources as they focus on issues of importance to women and/or build awareness about health challenges in other countries. In FY22, CEW+ awarded over $600k in scholarships and fellowships to students across all three campuses.

- Emergency Grants

Students on the Ann Arbor campus are eligible for emergency assistance with unexpected expenses that threaten to delay or derail academic progress. Participants meet individually with a licensed social work counselor to assess for need and provide funds, and collaborate with OFA when appropriate. We work closely with campus partners (noted above) to ensure a seamless process that best supports the student.

- Event co-sponsorship

Through the Frances and Sydney Lewis Visiting Leaders Fund, CEW+ partners with units across campus to promote diversity and cultural awareness by helping to fund unit events that are bringing women leaders to campus. Additional funds are provided to units if racial equity is a primary focus of the speaker.

- Riecker Undergraduate Research Fund

Through this fund, faculty members who are engaged in gender-focused research may apply for up to $1,000 to pay the wages of an undergraduate student as part of their research team.

- Caregivers and Student Parent programs

CEW+ leads through advisory groups focused on creating culture change for student caregivers. These groups work towards increasing a sense of belonging, changing policy, and building awareness about the needs of student parents. CEW+ builds events and programs that are family friendly and welcoming to student caregivers (e.g. Graduation for scholars and student caregivers and annual family-friendly women’s basketball outing).
Key Findings, Themes and Recommendations:

Counseling Demographics over time
Over time the counseling data reflects changes in CEW+’s priorities to more intentionally serve nontraditional students while ensuring our services for community are commensurate with what is possible based on donor funds. This is reflected in the chart in the data section that shows a mirrored relationship in the number of students versus community members that were supported from year to year. Despite constituency, our counseling participants represent greater diversity by race than the general U-M campus population, which aligns with our overall mission of supporting underrepresented students in particular. FY21 data were impacted by the closure of campus due to the pandemic as students had increased need for emergency funding and counseling support. While requests increased, the types of emergency fund needs remain consistent with the most common requests, namely for financial support for housing, food, utilities, computers, and medical emergencies. As an organization we are thinking broadly about additional types of support that can assist at-risk students to reach graduation.

FY22 Event Evaluations
While some of our programs are well attended by students, most of our programs attract larger percentages of staff and faculty. As an organization we need to better understand this pattern and consider new ways to engage students through workshops and programming. CEW+ is exploring offering support groups to students that, though open more broadly, are focused on the unique needs of nontraditional students. Those support groups are still being defined and developed. We are also launching a Financial Empowerment Initiative to encourage students to reflect on the psycho-emotional aspects of financial decision making to align them with their long-term goals and values. We expect this initiative to attract a diverse array of students across SES levels and demographics.

Student Caregiver and Parent Demographics and Needs
Over the past 4 years, students have consistently requested affordable childcare options and inclusion of unlicensed childcare for the childcare subsidy. CEW+ has been piloting programs in partnership with the On-Campus Childcare Centers to offer new programming that addresses the needs of student parents. In Summer term 2023, a registration based childcare program is being tested to assess the need for after hours and weekend childcare for student parents. CEW+ will continue conversations with leadership regarding the use of the childcare subsidy for unlicensed childcare and allowing priority registration for student parents. We are also committed to continuing our efforts to increase sense of belonging and community among student parents by providing meaningful content (i.e., study days, graduation, networking opportunities) in spaces that are welcoming to families. This past year we created a child-friendly play area in our office so that parents can study while their child safely plays in an adjacent room.
Building on our Strengths: Existing programs focused on diversity, equity and inclusion

We are currently refining existing programs and launching new programs based on data from students through our counseling and campus-wide surveys. In Winter 2023, we piloted a graduation grants program to address tuition shortfalls for students in their last two terms with outstanding tuition costs and who had exhausted financial aid options to close that gap. CEW+ partnered with the School of Social Work, SEAS, School of Nursing and School of Dentistry to identify students who met the criteria. As a result, CEW+ awarded more than $80,000 at the end of Winter term 2023. We will continue to pilot this program and assess its impact on graduation rates among those who are a part of the program.

Continuing our tradition of unit partnerships, in FY24 we will launch a Financial Empowerment Initiative (FEI) to encourage campus members (with an initial focus on students) to reflect on the psycho-emotional aspects of financial decisions (as mentioned above). A task force is being established to set priorities for the work and currently includes representatives from Office of Financial Aid, Wolverine Wellness, Student Life, LSA, SSW, Pharmacy, Wolverine Support Network (CAPS), Provost’s Office, and Detroit Center for Innovation.

CEW+ is committed to innovating new programs and refining existing programs to meet the needs of our constituents.

Climate survey and staff climate results:
All staff met to discuss the findings from the unit report and campus-wide report to identify priorities. Six ideas emerged from staff that resulted in follow-up meetings to identify actionable next steps.
Areas for improvement as identified by the survey and with staff input are:

● Each component of CEW+ needs a strategic approach (in progress).
● Consistent, relevant skill development related to DEI should be led with intentionality and followed up with team discussion (in progress).
● Revisit mission, vision, values across the organization balanced between U-M and CEW+, especially given the loss of WOCAP and WCTF (in progress).
● Sense of belonging: look critically at the team structures versus individual interactions (team meetings, teams, etc.) (in progress).
● Reshape team meeting to a new structure (implemented).
● Improve onboarding to reinforce consistent language across all staff, example “walk in my shoes” training so that new members learn about work across the office (in progress).

In an effort to continue to build on this work, CEW+ has committed to yearly climate surveys administered by an external consultant so that we can assess progress and prioritize next steps.
Job classifications and salary equity
CEW+ is committed to annually review job classifications and salary equity of all staff. This is an important component of the Center’s goal to ensure staff are compensated according to the work they are doing, that salaries remain competitive in the market and to maintain the ability to attract and retain staff. This year CEW+ benchmarked and compared MSW salaries across the institution and submitted a proposal to HR/Compensation for reclassification of MSW staff to match the required credentials and scope of practice.

Career Advancement
CEW+ is also committed to having clear pathways to promotion and professional development to allow staff to see a path for their next career opportunities. As an organization we provide professional development funds to all staff so that they advance their skills in alignment with career goals whether they are internal or external to the organization. Education is core to our mission, including ensuring staff are developing and growing professionally.

Hiring and Selection and Recruitment
When positions become available, postings and descriptions are reviewed before the role is posted to ensure responsibilities and qualifications are accurate to the current work. CEW+ continues to work with the UHR Office of Talent Management to train all staff participating in searches. These have included unbiased hiring, and holistic approaches to recruitment and hiring practices.

Plans for Supporting, Tracking and Updating the Strategic Plan

The CEW+ Continuous Improvement Specialist is the key contact for stewardship of the plan. She will be assisted by the Associate Director in tracking and supporting the plan implementation.

These individuals will conduct an annual review of the plan with all relevant constituencies and gather feedback and additional ideas to be implemented throughout the year. A midyear status report on progress will be presented to the CEW+ Leadership Team in January and a final evaluation of metrics and accomplishments against the plan, as well as recommendations will be presented to CEW+ Leadership beginning in April.
